SALES TAX DATA SHOWS TRADE BOOMING Record Floods Sweeping Northeast

Death Total Hits 105 For 7-State Area

Loss Expected To Run
Into Billions; Pennsy
Taking Biggest Jolt

Furious floods ripped at the northeastern states for the second day in a row today, with 105 known dead and property damage estimated in the billions.

It was the worst such catastrophe ever to hit the region.

Rivers, bloated with record-breaking rains, rolled out of their banks across seven states, leaving thousands homeless, roads in shambles, and whole communities debris-covered ruins.

The death toll, which began to climb Friday, approached 100
for the seven-state area, and the peak of the flood was still
to come in some sections.

The known dead listed state by state were: Pennsylvania, 41;
Connecticut, 30; Massachusetts,
11; New Jersey, 5; New York, 2;
Virginia, 2; Rhode Island, 1.

From Stroudsburg, Pa., came reports that some 40 persons were missing from a private summer
camp five miles away.

An intensive search of the low-
lying camp and possible escape areas was started at dawn. State police who reached the site reported
"no sign of anything."

The camp, known as Camp David, was completely underwater
and all 14 buildings were gone.

THERE WAS NO indication
whether the adults and children
there had gotten to safety before being trapped when the Brodheads Creek overflowed.

New reports of dams crumbling
under the force of swollen streams
added to the swelling total.

States hard-hit by flood reported these conditions today:

PENNSYLVANIA: At least 70
missing as raging Delaware and tributaries carve path of havoc.
Scranton, Tamaqua and Stroudsburg shattered, with more than 2,000 homeless in Stroudsburg alone. Many other towns immobi-lized, with utilities wrecked. Pocono Mountain resort camps under water. Countless roads and bridges out.

CONNECTICUT: Some 14 communities declared "health hazard areas," endangered by polluted water, contaminated food and the chance of disease spreading among refugees. Flood damages greatest in the Naugatuck River Valley, the Hartford-Torrington area and Watnam. The dead close to 30.

MASSACHUSETTS: Heavily
damaged were cities in a wide band across the southern part of the state, including Springfield, Chicopee, Holyoke and Worcester.
With only partial reports in, the loss was estimated at nearly $40 million. Boston had nearly 12 inches of rain in 40 hours. At least 11 were reported dead.

NEW JERSEY: Thousands of families evacuated from cities
along the Delaware River. Five persons were reported drowned.

RHODE ISLAND: The Black-
stone River flooded Woonsocket,
third largest city of the state with 50,000 population. State of emergency declared and Pawtucket and Central Falls put on alert. At least one person reported dead.

VIRGINIA: The worst appeared over. Unofficial estimates of statewide damage ran up to $4 million. Two persons reported dead.

NEW YORK: Receding rivers
left damage estimated in millions in six counties in the southeastern part of the state. Port Jervis declared a "disaster area" by the Red Cross. Two persons dead, one from drowning and one from elec-cution by an exposed wire.

CIRCLEVILLE and other Pickaway County residents are already familiar with the idea, but maybe it's turning into a nationwide fad
these days—this idea of carrying pedometers to see how far you walk in a specified period. Air Line Stewardess Jane Conger (right) is shown being unhitched from a pedometer after it revealed she walked a distance equal to 6 1/2 miles while her plane was making a 2,500-mile non-stop flight between New York and Los Angeles.
Stewardess Patty Berg is detaching the gadget. The Herald's pedometer, carried in pocket-watch fashion, is still available for those who wonder how much ground they cover without thinking about it.

Scots Streaming To Picnic, Wondering About Princess

BALLATER, Scotland (AP)—Thousands of Scots jammed this hamlet
today to picnic with the royal family and perchance find some hint
whether Princess Margaret's 25th birthday tomorrow may set the stage for a betrothal announcement.

There was no doubt the fete-
ful birthday has whetted interest in the royal lawn festival beyond all expectations. At 25
Margaret will be free to marry
—if she wishes—Peter Townsend, handsome 40-year-old wartime pilot and divorced father of two children.

On all lips was the unanswered
question: Will she?
The bazaar, organized by Queen
Mother Elizabeth to raise money for the nearby Craighie Church,
was set up at Albergeldie Castle
near the royal summer residence of Balmoral. It is expected to draw some 10,000 visitors, particularly in view of the impending birthday.

Ohio Woman Escapes From Kidnap Car

AURORA, Ind. (AP)—An Ohio
farm woman kidnaped last night
by an escaped convict jumped from her halted automobile early today and the Indiana State Patrol nabbed her captor.

Mrs. Helen Trainer, 51, was forced to drive Jack Johnson, 25,
from the Trainer home near Plattsburg in eastern Clark County to this Indiana town about 15 miles west of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Trainer was unarmed, Patrolman Paul Alford said.
Mrs. Trainer leaped from the car and told the patrolman of the frantic night ride.

Johnson, who was serving a term for forgery and housebreaking, attempted to escape by climbing a fence. Alford said he caught Johnson half way up the structure.
He had been armed but lost his gun beside the car, Alford said.
Johnson, sentenced from Hamilton County, will be held in the Dearborn County Jail.

Ohio State patrolman said Mrs.
Trainer was taken from her farm home at gunpoint and ordered to drive him away in the Trainer
car. Johnson escaped from the London, Ohio, Prison Farm Thursday night. Mrs. Trainer's husband, Herbert, called a daughter in Springfield, Ohio, to report the kidnaping. The daughter, Mrs. Ruth Sharver, notified police.

Town Welcoming Dr. Sammy Lee

California City Aroused By Curbs
Erected Against Doctor-Athlete

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP)—
Things will be different the next time Dr. Sammy Lee comes to Garden Grove.

Lee, an Army major, a physician and a two-time Olympic diving champion, was rebuffed twice (because he is an Oriental) when he tried to find a home in this little city in Orange County.

But yesterday citizens of Garden
Grove, aroused by the news, resisted to Lee's support.
Realtors and physicians urged

Lee, now serving with the Army
Medical Corps at Ft. Carson, Colo., to come to Orange County to find a home.

Said Lee: "My belief in the America is substantiated."

The Long Beach Press-Telegram said the major had accepted its offer to fly him and his family here.

Lee said, however, that an imminent addition to his family and studies for a medical specialty board examination might delay his return until October. He is due to be separated from the Army this fall.

4 Men Injured In 2-Car Crash On Island Rd.

Four men were injured in a near head-on collision of two cars on Island Rd. Friday at 4:35 p. m.

Thomas Tatman, 23, of 222 E.
Main St., was reportedly coming south on the wrong side of the road. A northbound car, driven by John R. Kelchner, 30, of Delaware Route 4, allegedly cut to the left to try and avoid the crash and was struck broadside
by Tatman's car.

Both men were hurt, as were
two others riding in Tatman's car.
All were taken to Berger Hospital,
treated and later released.

Kelchner suffered a fractured
right rib, plus multiple bruises.
His car was knocked into a ditch
by the crash, which took place near the Sturm and Dillard plant.

TATMAN HAD multiple lacerations
of the face and scalp. Delbert Adams, of Circleville Route
2, received a laceration of the left thumb. Charles Thomas, 26, of 329 Watt St., suffered lacerations of the forehead and left knee.

Sheriff's deputies said that Tat-man would be cited into court on charges yet to be determined.

Lawyer Urges Auto Builders Face Lawsuits

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago attorney said yesterday death and injury lawsuits growing out of traffic accidents should be directed at auto manufacturers for negligence in safety design.

There could be no greater incentive for eliminating faulty design and making the automobile safer, Harold A. Katz told a convention of the National Assn. of Claimants' compensation attorneys.

Katz said there is nothing in the law to insulate the car maker
from liability, "not only for defects in construction, but for the creation of unnecessary risk by the marketings of an automobile not reasonably designed to protect the safety of its occupants."

"It is obvious," he said, "that the placing of millions of automobiles on the road without the manufacturers utilizing in the slightest their tremendous engineering resources to design the safest practicable car constitutes the most stupidous creation of risk and neglect of duty in modern times."

Katz commended the American College of Surgeons and the American Medical Assn. for their recent pleas to make cars safer.

But, he told the convention delegates, "we as lawyers are perhaps more cognizant of what motivates
a corporation to act."

"Suffice it to say," he continued,
"that to a modern corporation, a resolution is a far less potent instrument for social persuasion
than a lawsuit."

Ohioan Elected

BALTIMORE (AP)—Danny D.
Johnson of New Philadelphia,
Ohio, yesterday was elected executive vice president of the National Assn. of Prosecuting Attorneys.

ONE OF 45 youths heading for a week of training on how to become a U. S. Marine at the Great Lakes Naval Training center, Jerry Lindish, 15, strains to please during inspection in Chicago. The grin-
Lohman and Col. William K. Enright. The program is part of a plan to help combat juvenile delinquency.

Granddad Ike Helps David With His Golf And Casting

FRASER, Colo. (AP)—Watching a proud grandfather always is a heartwarming thing, but it was something special seeing President Eisenhower with a young fellow named David.

Here was a man with a lot of the weight of the world on his shoulders, forgetting it all for a while to show off his seven-year-old grandson's skill as a fishman, golfer and horseback rider.

It was difficult to tell, though,
whether the President or David
got the bigger kick out of it all.
They were great pals together.

It all happened yesterday at the Rocky Mountain ranch where the boy and his grandfather have been vacationing since Tuesday.

When they arrived at the ranch

David was dressed in true Western style—battered Hopalong Cassidy hat and cowboy boots.

Eisenhower was swinging a golf club in front of his cottage, and he suggested that the newsmen might like to see a bit of David's golf.

WITH GRANDDAD spouting a constant stream of advice, David banged away about 15 minutes at a chip net target set up about 20 yards off.

The youngster managed to miss the target nearly every time, but came close enough once or twice
to win the President's praise.
Once after a good shot the President called enthusiastically:

"That's right. Hit it like that and it'll go a country mile."

David never had done any casting before when he arrived at the ranch. The President, squatting on the bank of a pond stocked with trout which cost about $1.25 each,
remarked with a satisfied smile
that the boy was doing all right.

Standing on the end of a small dock with a 2 1/2 ounce rod with a "flat fish" lure, David fished calmly while his grandfather watched the casting with an expert's eye.

"Good work, good work, that's a good one," Eisenhower called.
And then, musing out loud, the President said a bit ruefully:

"It's just too bad he didn't catch a fish. By golly, he certainly deserves to catch one."

David did better at horseback riding than he did at either golf or fishing. No novice in the saddle,
the boy brought back to the President memories of when he rode a horse as a youngster on the Kansas plains.

Girl, 7, Critical After Shooting

XENIA (AP)—Seven-year-old Barbara Blankenship, shot in the left lung Thursday night, remained in critical condition today at Dayton Miami Valley Hospital.

Police said eight-year-old Joseph Salyers, a neighbor, admitted firing a .22 caliber rifle at a bed-post in the Blankenship home in nearby Fairborn. The Salyers boy is in his parent's custody.

Cemetery Antics Bring Sentences

WARREN (AP)—Municipal Judge
James A. Ravella yesterday sentenced four youths to 30 days in jail and gave them fines ranging between $150 and $300 for wrecking several tombstones in Beth Israel Cemetery last March.

Pleading guilty to the charge
were Edward Stauffer, 18, Niles;
and Warren residents Charles Derr, 18, Louis Stearn, 21, and Gary McLeray, 20.

Custody Of Puppy Decided In Divorce

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—When a Dallas couple decided on a divorce recently they agreed on division of all their property
with the exception of a handsome, 6-month-old Boxer.

Each wanted to give his half of the estate, worth an estimated $2,500, to the other in exchange for the pup.
Each gets custody of the dog
for six months. Each has the right to reasonable visitation.

Wilmington Man Given Top Post

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—Paul C.
Hayes of Wilmington has been named superintendent of schools
at nearby Leetonia, succeeding D. D. Rummel who resigned to become superintendent at Olmsted

Hayes has been superintendent at Sharonville near Cincinnati the last four years.

has recorded its first set of triplets. Three girls were born there

Colville Says 1955 Gain May Reach $70,000

County Treasurer
Claims It Is True
Test Of Business

Business in Pickaway County
has been gaining at such a steady rate that local sales tax receipts
this year may jump $70,000 over the 1954 total, County Treasurer
Bob Colville said today.

Colville declared it has been well established that sales tax receipts are an accurate barometer for trade trends. And he pointed out that receipts for this district have been climbing, with only brief lapses, for the past four or five years.

"It's no longer a theory as to whether the sales tax figures are a reliable yardstick for business volume," Colville said. "You can be confident when you judge the business of any community by the records of its sales tax returns."

"Our past several years in Pick-away County have seen steady gains, and I'm glad to add that as far as I can see into the future this uptrend will continue here."

COLVILLE SAID sales tax receipts in Pickaway County last year were approximately $330,000.
By the end of this year, he said,
the 1955 total will probably reach $400,000.

Colville's cheering words came simultaneously with a similar announcement by State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy. Compared to the corresponding week of last year,
Tracy disclosed that a great increase was registered statewide by the $3,711,799 sale of prepaid tax receipts for the week ended August 6.

The increase, by the 12-month comparison, amounted close to three-quarters of a million dollars
statewide.

Another large gain was shown in the Pickaway County figures
as the state totals took their latest spurt. In this district for the week ended August 6, sales tax receipts amounted to $9,634.87.
This is to be compared with the total for the corresponding week
of 1954, when Pickaway County
trade resulted in receipts totaling $7,259.29.

The actual amount of the latest statewide increase was $740,533,
the largest weekly sales tax gain
to be reported so far in the current fiscal year which started July 1, 1955.

This represents an increase of 24.9 percent, Tracy said, in excess of the corresponding revenues of $2,971,246 which were collected for the week which ended August 7, 1954.

The cumulative grand total from prepaid tax receipts, use tax and other collections, from July 1, 1955
to August 6, 1955, has now reached $21,868,503.

Bridges Ordered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army
said it has ordered six portable
bridges from the Marion, Ohio engineer department as part of its program to provide aid for flood stricken northeastern states.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"HYPODERMIC USED ON LOBSTER"

Back in the days of Diamond Jim Brady, if you wanted to be a Big-shot with a Girl you took her to the Theatre and then to Delmonico's for Lobster and Champagne. This would pretty nearly kill a whole five dollar bill because Lobsters were expensive, costing almost fifty cents a piece. I never use this type of approach myself,
because as I have pointed out to lots of Girls, Conversation is more entertaining than the Theatre
(mine is anyway), and a Ham
Sandwich and a Glass of Buttermilk is more nourishing than Lobster and Champagne. This still kills a five dollar bill, but even if the Girls aren't grateful—the Lobsters are. Or at least they should be.

13 00 Days About n August Here Were In 90's

Circleville can get in line — and well up toward the front—when cities in this section of the country tell of the number of 90-plus days they have been having so far this month.

When the mercury boiled up to 98 degrees here Friday, it was the 13th day so far in August that the local temperature has climbed to 90 or above. And 13 days of 90-plus heat out of the first 19 days of the month is definitely on the scorching side.

Friday's high reading of 98, weather observers point out, is to be compared with a high of only 87 on the same day of last year.

Meanwhile, Circleville appears certain to take a heavy beating from the drought when the figures are totaled for August. When Friday passed without rain, it was the seventh straight dry day for this area.

And altogether, local precipitation for August amounts only to a feeble .26 inch.

ON THIS day last year, Circleville's rainfall accumulation for the month stood at 3.83 inches — 1.48 inch above the normal on that date!

Rainfall in this area for August is now 2.09 inches behind what it should be.

Ervin Leist Continues Good News: Plenty Of Water Available Here

Even though Circleville's city water system has been pumping more than a million gallons a day during this extra-dry spell, Public Utilities Manager Ervin Leist assured residents Saturday that they need have no fears about the water supply.

"We still have plenty of water," he said, "and as far as I can see ahead, we will continue to have plenty—at least enough so that nobody needs to hesitate when they want to sprinkle a lawn, for example."

"If, however, this dry spell should continue indefinitely, we don't know—in fact nobody can know—just what the situation would become."

Circleville, for a number of drought-dry Summers, has been enervated by many other nearby cities where stringent regulations have had to be set up to conserve the water supplies. A Columbus official some time ago, discussing how serious the water shortage is in his city, quipped:

"What's the secret down there in Circleville? How do you folks do it with your water supply?"

ACTUALLY, Leist pointed out, the water supply here would be improved still further if council were able to study and approve recommendations placed before it in behalf of the water department. A program for major improvements in that branch was outlined to the lawmakers by Leist last March.

Council at that time told the utilities manager that priority attention would go to the water improvement program as soon as something could be done to improve the city sewer system. In his efforts to launch the sewer program, however, council ran up against high costs and other problems.

The result has been that the program to bolster the water system against any emergencies is still waiting on the legislative side-track.

Leist said his department is well aware that water pressure throughout the city is relatively low during the early evening—when the majority of lawn-sprinklers prefer to do that chore.

"This is inevitable," he explained, "since most people want to sprinkle their lawns at the same time, especially between 5 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. Before and after that period, of course, you'll notice you have plenty of pressure again."

The sidetracked water improvement program, Leist said, would eliminate this drop in pressure during the evening. It would set up storage facilities which would provide the extra supply when needed.

Man Writes Pathetic Finale To 'Dead' Traffic Light Tale

BALTIMORE (AP)—This is the pathetic story of a "dead" traffic light.

The light is at the intersection of Milton Avenue and Orleans Street, which carries heavy U. S. 40 traffic across Baltimore's East Side.

One red signal burned out around midnight on March 17, 1951.

At 1:30 a. m. a big tractor-trailer truck breezed into the intersection, no light against it. A car, with the green, shot in from the left. They hit. The big truck careened into the building on the corner where Louis Nezbed ran a little plumbing supply shop and lived upstairs with his wife, Otilia.

The Nezbeds bought another house and tried to make a new start. But Louis was 71. He still had aches and pains from his injuries. He brooded.

This week, Mrs. Nezbed found him hanging by his neck from a rope in the garage.

building. There wasn't enough left to get the business going again.

The Nezbeds sued the trucker and a jury awarded them $21,000 in damages.

But the Maryland Court of Appeals in Annapolis said the accident was not the truck driver's fault. The burned out light was to blame—the city's responsibility. But the city cannot be sued for damages when something goes wrong in the exercise of its police powers. There was no way the Nezbeds could recover.

Everyone was sorry for them and a public subscription campaign raised $5,000.

The Nezbeds bought another house and tried to make a new start. But Louis was 71. He still had aches and pains from his injuries. He brooded.

This week, Mrs. Nezbed found him hanging by his neck from a rope in the garage.

Please, Margaret, Make A Decision

LONDON (AP)—The London Daily Mirror clamored Friday for Princess Margaret to make up her mind once and for all whether she is going to marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 40-year-old divorced war hero.

Once 25, Margaret will be free of the Royal Marriage Act's ban on royal family weddings that do not have the sovereign's approval. It is generally accepted that Townsend, father of two children who divorced his wife for misconduct, is the man-of-the-princess' heart.

2 15-Year-Old Girls Tied To Holdup Gang

Van Wert Holds One Youngster; Iowa Cops Capture Another

VAN WERT (AP)—A 15-year-old girl and a 20-year-old youth have been charged with armed robbery in the holdup of a Van Wert theater.

Another 15-year-old girl and three other young persons are being held in Iowa, all accused of operating in the same gang.

Van Wert County Sheriff W. L. Clay said he filed charges late yesterday against Harold Caven-ger, 20, of Lakeview, and the 15-year-old Russell Point girl.

The two are being held in Bellefontaine, where they were captured by Sheriff Fred Forester.

Clay said two other 20-year-old youths and two girls, one 20 and the other 15, also are believed to have been involved in the theater holdup last Tuesday. The four are being held in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

Clay said Cavenager told him he sat in a car with the three girls while the other two boys held up the theater with revolvers.

Clay said Cavenager told him the group then went to Owensboro, Ky., where a drug store and a liquor store were held up.

AFTER THAT the group split up. Clay quoted Cavenager as saying the other two boys and their girls headed west after buying a car in Logansport, Ind.

In Mount Pleasant, Iowa, the two young men and one of two girls accused of robbing a service station there of $73 were being held in lieu of bond today in connection with the holdup. The other girl was being held in juvenile quarters in Burlington.

Arrested yesterday about two hours after the holdup at a road-block near Fairfield, Iowa, were Joe Simmons, 22; his wife, Betty, 20; Jim Patterson, 23, and his girl friend, Phillis McGee, 15, all of near Lakeview, Ohio.

Sheriff Russell K. Van Tuij said Patterson and Simmons were armed with .22 caliber revolvers. The four were riding in a car reported stolen Thursday in Illinois.

Authorities, alerted by radio, spotted the youths' car shortly after the holdup and gave chase. The quartet surrendered after one shot was fired in the air.

Simmons and Patterson were charged with robbery with aggravation and their bond set at $1,000 each. Simmons' wife was held on $750 bond, charged with being an accomplice. The McGee girl was turned over to juvenile authorities and moved to Burlington.

Miners Slated To Get Boost

$2 A Day Hike Hinted Coming In New Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new $2-a-day pay raise for many soft coal miners was reported ready for announcement today.

The boost, which would come in two stages, could set the pattern for the entire soft and hard coal industry.

John L. Lewis, 75-year-old president of the United Mine Workers Union, summoned his 200-man wage-policy committee for a late afternoon meeting, presumably to ratify a new coal labor pact.

The reported agreement was said to call for a 15-cents-an-hour increase, effective Sept. 1 and a further 10-cent raise to take effect next April 1.

Lewis was reported to have reached agreement privately this week with Harry M. Moses, president of the Bituminous Coal Operators Assn.

Moses represents northern commercial producers and the "captive" mines owned by the steel industry.

LEWIS AND Moses got together secretly in 1952, made a deal and the rest of the industry accepted it, although Southern coal mine owners did so reluctantly. The new agreement would replace that three-year-old contract.

Miners now make an $18.25 basic daily wage. The two-stage increase would raise this to $19.45 Sept. 1 and $20.25 on April 1.

The Charleston, W. Va., Daily Gazette said it learned details of the reported new agreement from highly placed industry sources.

The newspaper said the deal calls for time-and-a-half pay for Saturday work, double pay for Sunday work, and a second week of vacation with $140 in pay.

Few miners work Saturdays or Sundays. Their present contract requires premium rates for Saturday and Sunday work only when a miner has already put in five days' work that week. One week of vacation with $100 in pay is now provided.

All children of the parish may attend the camp, which will be held from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. each day.

Transportation will be provided from the school to the camp.

Bible Words To Live By

MATTHEW 5:9—"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God." (RSV)

It is generally agreed that the real problems of the world are not finally resolved by war. In the present struggle between Communism and the Free World, it is constantly asserted that "Defense Is Our Business." These words from the lips of our Lord in His

ed Thursday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Irwin at Leesburg.

Sermon on the Mount, keep reminding us, that as Christians, our supreme business is the making of peace. Obviously in our frightened and warring world, we need to bear our witness that we believe in the "God of Peace," and that we follow the "Prince of Peace." This witness will have to be all inclusive, in that it involves evangelism and the bringing of individual men to Christ, as well as an effort to build and support world government. Let us allow no Communist scare to black out this Beatitude, and its positive encouragement for today's Christian.

The Rev. Nevin H. Zuck, Church of the Brethren, Elizabethtown, Pa.

AS MODERN AS TOMORROW

Does going to church seem to you old-fashioned? Well, it is, for worship is as old as creation, yet ever-new.

In church buildings before the fourteenth century there were no seats. Worshippers stood, or sat on cold damp floors. Later, three-legged stools were used.

Today, churches compare with our finest buildings in modern beauty, comfort, and convenience.

Our speech habits have changed with advancing generations. Scriptural style, too, has changed, yet neither meaning nor intent has been altered. The Bible's message remains the same—a gospel of good news filled with faith, hope, and love—for you, the same as for your forefathers.

Then be old-fashioned. Go to church. Find for yourself a faith that is steadfast—"the same yesterday, today, and forever,"—yet modern as tomorrow.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ABANDONED CHILDREN

A MAN WHO has spent 36 years tracking down runaway fathers for the city of New York reports that despite record high employment, child abandonment cases are on the increase. George Lamb, head of the abandonment bureau of the Queens District Attorney's Office, operates a wide-spread missing persons hunt in an effort to enforce a New York law which provides a maximum penalty of two years in Sing Sing prison and $1,000 fine for child abandonment.

These wanderlust fathers have taken Lamb into many states of the nation and to such far flung areas as the Canal Zone and a snow-swept village in New Brunswick. Difficult as his search for runaway fathers is, it is made even harder by laws which prohibit government agencies from opening their records to anyone, including law enforcement officers. Such bureaus as the Veterans Administration, Social Security and Unemployment Insurance agencies have information in their files which may be invaluable in the location of missing persons, but under the law these records are kept secret.

Lamb says the increase in child abandonment is due in part to a belief on the part of the fathers that their children will be adequately cared for by the state. Lamb says: "When a man takes off today he knows the public welfare bureau will take care of his kids. We used to have the fellow's conscience working on our side, but now I'm not so sure. At least he doesn't have as much cause to worry about his children going hungry."

Actually it is not surprising that child abandonment cases are on the increase when it is remembered that one out of four marriages end in divorce and family ties in general are not too strong. The responsibilities of marriage and parenthood are too often passed off with a shrug of the shoulders, with divorce or abandonment the result. Only by eliminating this irresponsibility can the situation be improved.

HUMANE GUIDED MISSILE

AMERICAN scientists attending the Atomic for Peace Conference in Geneva have disclosed that they are trying to develop a guided missile against cancer. They are searching for substances which would seek out the cancer when injected into the blood stream. These substances would carry with them a radioactive weapon to fight the malignancy.

This technique, the scientists claim, would channel the powerful rays of radioactive material only against the cancer and would not harm the surrounding tissue. And radioactive material attached to the missile would not stray away from the cancer.

The scientists are working on the theory that various tissues and organs of the human and animal body have within them specific chemical antibodies to help protect those areas against disease. They are hoping to isolate these antibodies and use them as carriers of radioactive substances to particular organs of the body.

Thus a lung antibody might be used to carry radiation ammunition against a lung cancer or a stomach antibody might transmit to a stomach cancer. Thus far only experimental work with animals demonstrates the validity of this concept.

Researchers of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory reveal that production of the isotopes has been an active atom-for-peace program since 1946, with more than 64,000 shipments being made for use in research centers and hospitals.

WANTED: A VALID REASON

EXPERTS IN the Army guided missile and rocket research readily admit that there are no insurmountable barriers to making a trip to the moon and back. They say the setup can be made for about $7 billion.

Money and manpower are not the only essentials to moon touring, however. There is one other. There must be a valid reason. Who can say it never will be done, with or without a valid reason.

A new model, whether in automobiles or skirts, need not be an improvement. The chief purpose is to make old models look so dated that everybody will be ashamed to keep them.

These Days

One of the bills not passed during the recent session of Congress is S. 636. It was not declared "must" legislation by President Eisenhower. Naturally, the President does not have to declare any legislation "must," nor should he. According to the Constitution, it is Congress that is the legislative branch of the government and all any President needs to do is to approve or veto bills passed by Congress.

The "must" legislation habit is a corruption of the legislative process introduced by Franklin D. Roosevelt and continued by his successors. It gives to the President a leadership and a responsibility not intended by the Founding Fathers.

To return to S. 636 here is a bill introduced by Senators Hennings, Hayden, Green and Gore to make elections more honest than they are. The bill is called "Federal Elections Act of 1955," and it should be passed to safeguard the institution of government by choice from being corrupted by advertising agencies, press agents, professional party managers and such who benefit by the size of campaign expenditures.

Advertising agencies, for instance, receive 15 percent of the expenditures which pass through their hands. The more spent, the better these self-sacrificing idealists do for themselves.

In the first place, this bill abolishes one of the tricks for pyramiding campaign expenditures, namely, the organization of multiple committees some of which exist only to legalize the evasion of the spirit of the law. Under S. 636 "...No contribution shall be accepted, and no expenditure made, by or on behalf of a political committee for the purpose of supporting the candidacy of a candidate until the candidate (or a representative designated by him in writing) has authorized in writing the political committee to support his candidacy and has filed a copy of such authorization with the Clerk of the House of Representatives..."

The multiple committees therefore will have to be authorized; they will have to register, and unless they take money under the table, they will have to report.

I regard this as a most important improvement because the multiple committees are a perfect device for hiding contributions. Under this bill, such committees may be organized and contributions may be made to them, but they will have to give some excuse for existence.

The bill has about every provision one can think of to prevent secret contributions except the passing of money under the table, which nobody can prove and which, being illegal, becomes an income tax evasion and a dangerous adventure in which many, if not most, politicians engage. No law can be passed which legislates men's morals and this is a moral question.

The limitations upon expenditures are as follows:

"(1) the sum of $50,000 if a candidate for Senator or Representative-at-large, or the sum of $12,500 if a candidate for Representative, Delegate, or Resident Commissioner; or

"(2) in the case of an election other than a caucus or nominating convention, an amount equal to the amount obtained by multiplying 10 cents by the total number of votes cast in either the last primary election or the last general election for all candidates for the office which the candidate seeks."

These provisions are a step in forward making elections honest, but the elections continue to be costly which is really the issue. If the 1956 Election, pre-convention and post-convention, costs both parties $100,000,000, it is too much. Half of that amount is too much. It simply means that whoever is elected President is obligated to too many persons and some of them not particularly proper persons.

It makes little difference whether a candidate gets excessive contributions from, let us say, the Rockefeller family or the United Automobile Workers; the candidate places himself under obligations which ought to be beyond his capacity to fulfill. President Eisenhower has spent two years discovering how costly such obligations can be and how embarrassing at times.

Adequate limitations upon election contributions will help, but what needs to be done also is to place an absolute roof on expenditures. Expenditures can be traced more easily than contributions, particularly if they are spent on radio and television or in newspapers, and the penalty ought to be automatic expulsion from office once the excessive expenditures are established. That is the way it is done in Great Britain where elections are clean and honest and representative.

If nothing was accomplished at Geneva, as some critics charge, that was an improvement over Yalta.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

"WHERE did you go? What have you been doing since you left the Automat?" Sara asked Gerry.

"Trying to find the ruby. I went to a lot of places and it wasn't until this afternoon I had a sudden idea: Had my pocket been picked only once after all? I was thinking about you and I suddenly recalled you saying: Let me see it again when you took the box from me at the Automat. I had known all along that you must have looked at the ruby while I was getting change. I recalled how annoyed I was at having to turn my back on the ruby for a moment, even though I was standing nearby. But I could hardly refuse to let you look at your own pendant—not without running the risk that you'd guess there was something special about it."

"Now it came to me—suppose you had tried it on? What woman wouldn't? And suppose you had left it on, hidden under your fur? Suppose I had walked out of the Automat with an empty box in my pocket? I hadn't looked to see if the ruby was still inside when I picked up the box and put it back in my pocket."

"Suppose you still had the ruby and had no idea that it was real? You might display it anywhere and you might be in deadly danger. I had to warn you that the ruby was real. Oh, Dacre, what I let you in for! What a fool I've been! Some day I hope I can tell you the whole story."

"Why not now?"

"Dacre, there isn't time. I'm being followed, just as Moxon was followed. Not by the police, by others. I heard a step behind me in the street just now. A light, quick step with a cadence like a limp."

"I've heard that step, too," said Sara. "How do you know it wasn't following me tonight? You said you were just behind me."

Gerry seemed to be turning the idea over in his mind slowly.

Then he said: "It isn't safe for you to keep it."

She responded dully. "I haven't got it."

"Where is it then?"

"That's something I can't tell you, Gerry. Tomorrow the police will have it."

He was puzzled. Then he had an inspiration. "You mailed it to the police?"

"No." She scorned the easy lie that would satisfy him. "I gave it to someone who will see that the police get it tomorrow."

"You wore it to your aunt's?"

He was thinking aloud. "There were two other guests, a Dr. Sallust and a Mr. Clive. They saw that the ruby was real. You'd want it valued as soon as possible. You wouldn't give it to your aunt, an elderly woman. You probably gave it to one of those two men to get it valued for you, but..."

She had not told him where the ruby was yet now she saw purpose in his eyes. He thinks he narrowed it down to two—Clive and Sallust. He'll go to each of them tonight. It doesn't matter.

You're Telling Me!

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

Marilyn Monroe applied for a visa to visit Russia. Presumably she's on the calendar.

Marilyn might turn out to be just what the doctor ordered as a goodwill ambassador. We haven't gotten anywhere talking straight, so why not a few curves.

A Danish scientist at Geneva warned about dangers of mutation from radioactivity. Mutation is like when your grandchildren turn out to be a horse of another color.

Apparently the public isn't as steamed up about atomic dangers

They don't know Aunt Caroline has it. They can't give her away.

"Sallust's a doctor. Of medicine, I suppose? Wouldn't know much about valuing jewels. It must be Clive. What does he do?"

"You don't tell me everything. Why should I tell you?"

He was really angry now. "Dacre, this isn't a childish game. This is a mortally serious business. Moxon died because of the ruby. I've got to know where it is."

"Why do you care if you're not a jewel thief?"

His face hardened. "Then you don't trust me after all?"

"I do, but I gave my word I wouldn't tell and I'm not going to, especially when you won't even tell me why you want the ruby."

For a moment he stood still in the full light of the single lamp. His eyeballs moved toward her. It was impossible to tell if the flash that came and went was a chance reflection of the lamplight or a glitter of pure rage from within. Then, quite suddenly, he laughed. "Of course you won't tell me about the ruby. As you say, what have I told you? Nothing... But there's just one thing I'm going to ask of you before I go."

He stood looking at her, intent and earnest. "Swear to me that you haven't got the ruby yourself—if you haven't."

"I give you my word I haven't got it."

He was at the door. She went to him. "Gerry. Once you said 'Back in a minute' and I didn't see you again for 24 hours. I thought someone had killed you. What shall I do if it happens again? If you say now 'I'll be back tomorrow' and then—you never come back?"

"But I shall come back." This was his old smile—gay, friendly, quizzical. "Wild horses couldn't keep me away."

Sara dialed Clive's number. She could hear the bell at the other end of the wire—a muffled buzz, then a pause. At least the line wasn't busy.

"Mr. Clive's residence," a voice said.

"Is Mr. Clive there?" Her voice was high and breathless. "This is Miss Dacre. I must speak to him. It's urgent."

"I'm sorry, madam. Mr. Clive is dining out."

"Where?"

"I don't know where he went, madam." The voice was slightly shocked. "He didn't say."

"When will he be back?"

"I don't know, madam. Shall I give him a message?"

"Please ask him to call Miss Dacre the moment he comes in and tell him it's important."

She put down the telephone. What would Gerry do when he discovered Clive was out? Wait for him? Or leave a message and go—where? She looked at her watch. Seven-thirty. Clive might not be back till midnight or later and she must do something now.

She dialed and again she heard a buzzing—quicker, and without pause. The line was busy. Could she have dialed the wrong number in her flurry? She broke the connection and dialed again, slowly and carefully. Again came that busy signal. She couldn't wait any longer. She must wait. It was only four blocks.

In the hall, a dial showed that the elevator was on the ground floor. It was quicker to run down the fire stairs. In the street, she turned east with a brisk clatter of heels on asphalt.

She had gone half a block when she heard that familiar quick step behind her—tap and drag, tap and drag...

But Sallust was following Gerry and—

Her mind stumbled. Was Sallust still following Gerry?

This afternoon when he led her from Caroline's doorstep to his car, parked farther down the street, his gait had been brisk. No sound of a limp at all.

Now she had no idea who was following her.

Panic invaded her. What would he do when he realized she was going toward the police station?

She looked ahead at the long cross-town blocks—stretches of darkness between avenues of light, quiet and lonely at the dinner hour.

She rounded the first corner. There was more noise here on Park. She lost the sound of that one particular step for a moment. She had an instant of hope as she looked about for a traffic policeman who might take her to the precinct station but hope died. There was none on duty.

She rounded the next corner. Halfway down the street she should see the neon lights of the drug store. Her step faltered. There were no neon lights. The drug store was closed for the night.

Steady now. But imperceptibly, almost against her will, her pace quickened. She was halfway down the block when she heard the ominous step again—tap and drag...

At the next corner, she looked back. There were two figures behind her, both men, both hurrying, both veiled in shadow.

She turned the corner. She couldn't turn here on Madison—too many people. But she hurried, thrusting her way through the loitering crowds. A taxi passed her close to the curb. Light from a dress shop fell across the two men within. She saw the Indian's name—Sally—yellow teeth that looked white in a brown face, the other face haggard and pale—Gerry's? Or the impostor's? How could she be sure? Then he smiled and she knew it was Gerry.

It was like something in a dream—the sudden, flashing vision of people who couldn't be together at that time and place, who couldn't know each other, smiling when they had no reason to smile. But it wasn't a dream. It was reality. He wasn't in danger. He was smiling contentedly. And he had led her to her. He had said he didn't know the Indian.

Whom could she trust now? Sanders. He must be told everything...

DIET AND HEALTH

Take Iodine Along On Vacation Trip

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

TAKE a bottle of iodine along with you, in your vacation first-aid kit, when you go out to "rough it."

It might come in handy, even though you don't cut or scratch yourself. For iodine can also be used to disinfect drinking water.

Safe Drinking Water

Safe drinking water often is a problem on summer vacations, especially for those of you who take off to the woods or mountains. It is best not to take any chances, when it is such a simple matter to make the water perfectly safe.

Generally, the iodine you buy at your neighborhood drug store will be 7 per cent tincture of iodine, unless it is marked otherwise on the label.

Iodine Mixture

One drop of this solution in a quart of water, or four drops to a gallon, will make most stream and lake water safe for drinking. Let the iodine and water mixture stand for 10 to 20 minutes, depending upon the clarity, before drinking it.

A weaker solution of 2 per cent tincture of iodine is also available. If this is what you have, use four to six drops per quart of water.

Will Affect Taste

This is going to affect the taste, but I think you will agree that it is better to drink odd-tasting water than water that is filled with bacteria.

If you expect to have difficulty finding safe water on your trip, it might be a good idea to purchase some calcium hypochlorite tablets from your drugstore before starting out.

In Other Cities

These tablets are made of the same material used to safeguard drinking water in Chicago and other cities. Just drop one or two tablets (the label on the container will tell you how many), into a gallon of water and let it stand for 10 minutes or so.

Military Services

A tablet containing tetraglycine hydroperiodide is used by the military services to disinfect water in the field. One tablet is used per canteen of water. For highly colored water, two tablets are used. The mixture is permitted to stand for 10 minutes before drinking.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

S. J. L., Jr.: I am not naturally fat but have a lot of fat on my chest. Could you tell me of any way to dissolve this?

Answer: The only way to eliminate fat from a particular section of the body is by means of a general loss of weight. You should consult with your physician concerning the use of a reducing diet.

Rookie Stars As Texans Honor Doak

DALLAS (AP)—Ted Wegert, who bypassed college on the way to professional football, won the glory, and Doak Walker, who got a college education, profited financially here last night as the Philadelphia Eagles upset the Detroit Lions 14-8.

Wegert, a rookie in pro experience but who played four years in the Navy, ran the Lions ragged in scoring both touchdowns and keeping the Eagles unbeaten along the National Professional League exhibition trail.

He did it on Doak Walker Night in the Cotton Bowl when the former Southern Methodist University All-American and for five years a star with the Lions was honored.

The fans gave him a $10,000 automobile and other things in a ceremony and the Doaker wept.

Walker for the first time failed to score at least one point in a Cotton Bowl appearance. Doak's try for extra point after the Detroit touchdown was blocked.

The contest consisted mostly of defense and was rather sloppily played. But for the irrepressible Wegert's 83-yard touchdown run in the second period there were few thrills for the crowd of 48,000.

A pass from Bobby Layne to Walker for 23 yards started the Lions rolling to their touchdown late in the first period. Bill Stitts capped the 80-yard surge with a 2-yard whirl around end.

Williams slammed out three hits in Montreal's 8-2 conquest of Columbus last night to lift his average to .344.

Youths Dominate Trapshoot Opener

VANDALIA (AP)—Warmup events at the 56th Grand American Trapshoot were dominated yesterday by two students. The official shooting starts Monday.

Bill Hawks of Casper, Wyoming, 18-year-old sophomore at the University of Missouri, broke 188 x 200 from the 22-yard line to win the opening handicap event.

Johnny Sternberger, a senior at Randolph High School at near-Englewood, broke 182 x 200.

Three shooters tied with perfect scores in the 16-yard event. They were Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, Ohio, who won on a coin toss; Marvin Driver of Missouri Valley, Iowa and Phil Miller of Reno, Nev. Each had 100.

County, City Football Teams Sked Previews Sept. 9, 10

CHS Coach Brudzinski Has 13 Lettermen Back; Will Use Split T To Better 1954 2-6 Record

Football—city and county wide—is barely three weeks away. Circleville High School's grid-ers will take the field Friday, Sept. 9 for their preview. This will be "Band Night", always a popular event, starting at 8 p. m.

The following evening, Sept. 10, Pickaway County schools show their six-man type of play at the Fairgrounds, starting at 7:30 p. m. Each team will play for two quarters.

CHS has 13 lettermen returning this season, coach Steve Brudzinski announced. However, he quickly added that there are some promising players coming up and everyone will have to fight for a position regardless of whether he is a letterman or not.

JOE HILL and Eddie Tomlinson will return this year as half-back candidates, to head the list of last year's varsity. George Pifer will try again at fullback while Dick Banks will go for quarterback.

Mike Davis will try to take over the center job vacated by graduating Paul Allison. Gary McKenzie, one of the better linemen last season, transferred to a county school.

Other returning linemen include: Jim McConnell, Jay Curry and Ralph Jones at the ends; Wayne Chelickowsky and Tom Valentine at the guards; John Horn, Jim Lewis and Don Stawser at the tackles.

Coach Brudzinski said he would start off this year with the split T formation. Last year's straight T did not seem effective, he added, in view of the 2-6 records piled up by the Tigers.

He said that he might do some experimenting with the short punt in passing situations, which clocked several times last year. Also, he said that if the split T does not work, he will try other formations.

BRUDZINSKI will again be assisted by Tom Bennett, Red Courtney, Dick Boyd and Art Tompkins. Boyd handles the reserve team. Managers again will be Kirkpatrick, Couch and Gerhardt.

Two scrimmages have already been set up for CHS with a third being planned. The Tigers will travel to Chillicothe Sept. 1 and to Lancaster on Sept. 6.

There are only three away games on the CHS schedule with five at home. The complete sked of CHS follows with the county schedule later on:

CHS
Sept. 9—preview (Band Night).
Sept. 16—Athens
Sept. 23—Linden McKinley (Parents Night)
Sept. 30—at Wilmington
Oct. 7—at Hillsboro
Oct. 14—St. Charles
Oct. 20—Rosary
Oct. 28—Greenfield (Homecoming)
Nov. 4—at Delaware
Nov. 11—Washington C. H.

Top Hat Wins District Title In 1-0 Battle

Showing the stuff that makes them the true champions that they are, Circleville's Top Hat softball team won the district title Friday night by squeaking out a 1-0 decision over Goodyear Atomic at Kingston.

The winning blow was provided by Lloyd Minor with a bases-empty homer to right center in the third. Top Hat hurler Stillman Morrison gave up only two hits but Goodyear's Paul Neff only allowed four—two by Minor and one by Speeder Davis and Bob Moon.

The Top Hatters will meet Zanesville next Friday at 8:30 p. m. in Toledo for state tournament play.

Members of the Top Hat team include: Harold and Carl Gulick Bob and Ted Moon, Snap and Bill Ankrom, Roy Taylor, Speeder Davis, Lloyd Minor, Harry Strawser, Leon Sims and Jack McGuire. For the state tourney, Top Hat was allowed to pick up two other players and chose Paul Neff and Claude Taylor.

The team is managed by Paul Seymour.

Kid Relievers Keep Indians In Running

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ray Narleski and Don Mossi put on another demonstration last night of how they keep the Cleveland Indians crowding for another American League pennant.

The two young relief pitchers pulled Mike Garcia out of a terrible 10th inning jam last night, and the Indians went on to beat Kansas City 2-1 in the 11th inning.

It looked like Athletics would surely break up the 1-1 ball game, as Enos Slaughter smacked a double to open the 10th, and Elmer Valo followed with an infield single. To make things worse, shortstop George Strickland's wild throw in front of Valo's grounder allowed Slaughter to take third.

With nobody out and men on first and third, Manager Al Lopez called on Mossi for the 45th time. Mossi fanned Harry Simpson.

Then Lopez summoned Narleski for the 46th time, with a couple of right-handed batters coming up.

Narleski threw practically nothing but strikes at Hector Lopez, who fouled off a batch of them before waving at strike three. Then the right-handed fireballer got Jim Finigan to bounce into a force at second base, leaving Slaughter stranded at third.

The Indians threatened in the 10th, when Bob Avila doubled with two out and Tom Gorman purposely passed Gene Woodling. But Gorman got Vic Wertz, who had hit safely in his previous three appearances, on an outfield fly.

Narleski set down the Athletics with dispatch in the 11th on two popups and an outfield fly. The Indians then gave him his eighth victory against no defeats, when, with two out, Hal Naragon and pinch hitters Ralph Kiner and Dale Mitchell hit successive singles.

Strikeout Record Set By Dave Kraft

An Ashville hurler, Dave Kraft, pitched his way into enviable fame in the National Baseball Congress Tournament recently at St. Paul while chucking for Hill Top Van and Storage.

In 31 innings pitched, Kraft struck out 50 batters, walked 17, was nicked for 21 hits but allowed only nine runs. His mark of 50 strikeouts was high for the tourney, including 18 in one game. The 18 strikeouts set a tourney record briefly, only to be bettered by one by Joe Rotunda of Columbus area fame.

Kraft was selected on the all-tournament team. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Kraft, of Ashville.

Browns Given Edge In Packer Duel

AKRON (AP)—The Cleveland Browns open their 5-game exhibition schedule tonight in Akron's Rubber Bowl against the Green Bay Packers who go into the contest as 7-point underdogs. Cleveland Coach Paul Brown, disappointed by his squad's loss to the College All-Stars, has juggled his lineup somewhat.

Among the offensive changes will be Henry Ford from the University of Pittsburgh, taking over at right half back in place of Dub

Jones, scheduled for a trial at offensive end. Fred Morrison starts at fullback instead of Maurice Bassett, confined to his room all week with a bad cold.

Nashua is the fourth horse in recent years to win both Hialeah's Flamingo and the Preakness.

Pickaway County Hunters Reminded Of Special Regulations

Two Seasons Being Extended As Experiment

Squirrel, Pheasant Hunting Time Set To Be Lengthened

Pickaway County hunters are reminded that there are special regulations governing squirrel and pheasant hunting this season.

Although the regular squirrel season is from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, experimental areas have been set up to allow hunting from Sept. 1 to Oct. 31. These include state public hunting areas at: Waterloo, Trimble, Woodbury, Brush Creek, Roosevelt-Shawnee, Wolf Creek, Cooper Hollow, Delaware and Milan.

A special pheasant hunting season of Nov. 15 to Dec. 31 (26 days longer than usual) has been set up at: Resthaven, Killdeer Plains, Maumee State Forest, Spring Valley and Delaware. Special regulations governing these areas will be strictly enforced.

To clear up any misunderstanding, hunting licenses can be purchased after the Sept. 1 deadline. The deadline only means that anyone carrying a gun after that date must have a new 1953-54 license.

During the first five days of the squirrel hunting season in the experimental areas, a special report permit must be secured. Squirrels killed in these areas from Sept. 1 to Sept. 14 and from Oct. 17 to Oct. 31 must be tagged with a transportation tag at the checking station.

A COPY of the 1953 hunting and trapping guide is available at the 21 license stations in Pickaway County. Deadline for licenses is Sept. 1.

Summary of the seasons follows:

Science Sees H-Bomb Aiding Big Laundries

GENEVA (AP)—Tritium, an ingredient of the hydrogen bomb, may prove a valuable help to commercial laundries in cleaning greasy clothes.

W. G. Brown of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory and three colleagues told the atoms-for-peace conference Friday that this radioactive form of hydrogen may also become widely used in dairy food processing, petroleum and other industries.

Tritium is the heavyweight form of hydrogen. AEC scientists explained that its potential use in industry would be as a radioactive tracer.

Thus in laundries, tritium could be put into a washing solution for greasy clothes and it would become distributed among the hydrogen atoms in grease.

Later the clothes could be inspected with a Geiger counter to see whether all the grease has been removed.

They said tritium might have wide application industrially for measuring retention of dyes by fabrics, study of combustion processes in the petroleum industry, petroleum exploration and investigations of atmospheric pollution.

Uncle Sam To Unload Cincy House

CINCINNATI (AP)—Uncle Sam still wants out of the rooming house business in Cincinnati.

Back in 1921, Mrs. Miriam C. Read willed a large home on Gilbert Avenue to the U. S. government to help pay for World War I. She directed, however, that the government wasn't to take over full possession during the lifetime of Clifford E. Givens, who had taken care of her.

Givens died in 1954. Meanwhile, he had refused to pay the various county taxes and assessments, claiming the United States owned the property. Hamilton County claimed someone owed about $12,000 in taxes and assessments.

In 1951 state courts held the county couldn't collect the taxes from the federal government.

There still remained the matter of $622 in electric assessments, dating back to 1927.

Recently, Richard Pennington, assistant United States Attorney, filed suit in U. S. District Court asking that the county be ordered to desist trying to collect taxes and assessments and that all claims be removed.

If that is done, the government plans to sell the property once the title can be cleared.

Refrigerator Kills Alabama Baby Boy

STEEPPVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A large electric refrigerator from which the food had been removed was a death trap yesterday for a baby boy, but his two sisters were revived.

Coroner Grady Moss said Jerry O'Neal Burns, 19 months, was dead upon arrival at a nearby clinic. Geraldine Burns, 10, and Elaine, 6, revived by fresh air.

Moss said the children were left at their farm home while the parents worked in a field. He said Terry Odell Burns, twin of the dead boy, apparently closed the door on the three.

The mother, Mrs. James O. Burns, found them when she noticed the food was out of the refrigerator.

Ohio Schools Benefit From Financial Quirk

State Can't Pay Debt Despite $50 Million Surplus In Last Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Wealthy Ohio amassed a 50 million dollar surplus in the last fiscal year but couldn't pay off an eight million dollar debt of long standing.

That obligation recently hit a record high and is costing the state a half million dollars a year in interest.

But the financial paradox apparently causes little concern because schools benefit.

Article VI, Section 1 of the state constitution reads:

"The principal of all funds arising from the sale, or other distribution of lands, or other property, granted or entrusted to this state for educational and religious purposes, shall forever be preserved inviolate, and undiminished; and, the income arising therefrom, shall be faithfully applied to the specific objects of the original grants, or appropriations."

The Congressional ordinance of 1887 for the Northwest Territorial Government reserved one thirty-sixth of all land in the territory for school purposes.

More than a score of years after Ohio became a state in 1803, Congress authorized the sale of school lands. Proceeds went into a fund administered by the state for the benefit of schools.

Ohio established a "common school fund" on Jan. 30, 1827. That law said proceeds from school land sales should constitute an "irreducible fund." The act also provided that such money "should bear an annual interest rate of 6 per centum" backed by the full faith and credit of the state.

Later Ohio began to lace the state with navigable canals that ultimately cost some 16 millions. Proceeds from school land sales were loaned to finance canals at 6 per cent interest.

Local school districts in counties which included school lands shared the money from interest payments. Most counties in Ohio continue to receive distributions.

Another statute provides for handling gifts or bequests to three state-supported universities in the same manner as their endowments derived from school land sales.

The three are Ohio State, Miami and Ohio universities.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes recently reported an increase of $22,458 to boost Ohio's "irreducible debt" to $8,358,378. The increase resulted from gifts of $194,835 to Ohio State, $12,786 to Miami and $14,836 to Ohio University.

University endowments account for $4,089,598 of the irreducible account. They increase from year to year. The total of $4,268,779 from sale of school lands remains virtually unchanged since 1917.

The last Legislature appropriated $1,008,000 for interest payments on the irreducible debt during the next two-year period. The total includes $498,000 for the first fiscal year and $510,000 for the second.

A century ago the annual appropriation for interest was $116,837.

An 1851 report to the Legislature by State Auditor John Woods placed at $1,754,322 the "amount of irreducible school and trust funds held by the state upon which 6 per cent interest is payable annually forever."

Under the Garver Act of 1917, money received from the sale of school lands now goes into a "school land trust fund." This money is invested at current interest rates. The fund holds more than a half million dollars worth of U. S. government bonds. Income goes to school districts on the same basis as interest realized on the irreducible debt.

Currently the state owns 6,897 acres of unsold school lands. School districts receive rental payments from those lands.

Yank Farmers Near Tour's End

MOSCOW (AP)—Twelve American farmers returned wearily to Moscow Friday after a 32-day swing deep into the Soviet Union. They said a drought threatened dust bowls, but that the vast cultivation schemes appeared to promise huge future grain crops.

The party, in Russia since July 15 on a Soviet-U. S. exchange arrangement, appeared tired and anxious to get home, but they were impressed with their inspection of virgin lands being brought under cultivation in northern Siberia.

Wooster Murder Trial Scheduled

WOOSTER (AP)—Ernest G. Jones Jr., 28, of Wooster goes on trial Aug. 29 on a first degree murder charge in the stabbing of farmer Frank Landis, 67, June 10.

Although Jones has been judged legally sane after 30 days observation at Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane, his attorneys say they plan to base his defense on alleged mental disorder.

40 Former China Students Still In U.S.

Officials Declare All Are Free To Go Home At Any Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials said that there probably are about 40 Chinese former students still in this country who want to return to Communist China.

But they emphasized that, unlike the 41 Americans held in Red China, the students here are free to leave any time.

The student issue has been raised by Red China in ambassadorial negotiations at Geneva, where the United States is seeking freedom for Chinese-held Americans.

Officials said they have no exact records even on the number of students still here, much less on their reasons for not leaving. Although some of them once were under restrictions, all have been free to leave since April 8.

Officials say that past experience with the student groups suggests a number of explanations for their remaining:

SOME MAY not be able to afford a passage back (a law which permitted U. S. payment of their fares expired June 30); some may still be working under contracts which still have some time to run; there may be health considerations in some cases.

The students are not under surveillance and are free to make their own living and departure arrangements. They, like other resident aliens, must check in periodically with the immigration service, but no central file is kept on their activities.

Officials estimate there are still in the United States about 4,500 Chinese who came to this country originally as students. Some are still students, others have found jobs, some have become citizens.

Most preferred to remain, but 124 who wanted to return after the Communists took over were restricted after the start of the Korean War. This government refused them exit permits on the ground that special skills they had acquired here might be used against U. S. and U. N. forces fighting in Korea.

Only 78 of this 124 still wanted

State Fair To Give Show On Home Fires

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Want to see how a house fire can start? Or how quick your driving reactions are in an emergency situation?

Monday, Aug. 29, has been designated health and safety day at the Ohio State Fair, and house fire demonstrations and driver reaction equipment will be among the features displayed. The fair will be held here Aug. 27-Sept. 2.

The Dayton fire department will to return on April 8, when all restrictions were lifted. No records have been kept since then, but officials say they think about half these students have gone home.

set up what it calls "the house of hazards", a small, electrically operated dwelling in which fires can be started and means of combating and preventing them demonstrated.

The Ohio Trucking Assn. will have a mobile driver-testing laboratory outside the merchants and manufacturers building.

And if you're interested in livestock, the fair will display the largest show of beef on hoof in 20 years, said fair Manager Sam C. Cashman.

As of Friday, 995 commercial cattle entries were received, compared with 600 shown last year, said Cashman.

Six national livestock shows also are planned.

A state fair worship service will be held 9:30 a. m. (EST), Sunday, Aug. 28, at the Fairgrounds Coliseum under supervision of the Ohio Council of Churches.
